CARPENTER ELECTED SENATOR.

At 10:55 this morning a special dispatch from Madison contained the most gratifying intelligence that Matt. H. Carpenter was nominated for United States Senator by the Republican caucus by acclamation. To his many friends here and elsewhere, this was expected. For the last twenty-four hours, Carpenter began to lead, and from that moment the hopes of Howe and Keyes were blasted. It was a foregone conclusion, in fact, that when the caucus adjourned at midnight on Friday that neither of these gentlemen could possibly gain a nomination. The prediction made in the Gazette on Friday that if the Republicans elected one of the three prominent candidates, it would be Carpenter, has thus proven true. Those who voted for him without a waver for sixty ballots, were determined not to surrender. Carpenter's surpassing ability, his brilliancy as a lawyer, his eloquence which always captivates his hearers, and the memories of four years ago, held them firm in the faith. They were encouraged to move on, and inspired to hope for success. The men who supported Howe and Keyes were not and could not be thus encouraged or inspired. Finally Carpenter began to gain in strength, and when his opponents saw that no power could defeat him, that a large majority of the voters in the State asked for his election, they made a break, and this morning it culminated in a nomination by acclamation. This cheering news will take the wings of the lightning and before the setting of the sun to-day there are those in every city in the land who will rejoice over Carpenter's election. In keenness of intellect, in the magnetism of his eloquence, in power as a lawyer, he stands without a peer in Wisconsin, and in the United States he has not a superior. He is the pride of the State and an honor to the nation. His election is not only creditable to Wisconsin, but it will prove beneficial to the country at large. Though claimed by Wisconsin he is a national man, and there is not a city nor a village from Maine to the Pacific, nor from Miami to the Gulf in which Matt. Carpenter is not known. He will now take his place in the Senate Chamber and become more conspicuous than ever. The country will pay attention to what he does and will listen to what he says. Wisconsin can now shake hands with New York and Maine, for these three have given the nation a triumvirate equal to that of Webster, Clay, and Calhoun.

It is needless to defend Mr. Carpenter's Republicanism or his financial record. For the past month the Gazette has defended him against the attack of those who doubted his proper relationship with the Republican party. He may have done things since his retirement from the Senate in 1875 with which some of these Republicans may find fault, but that Matt. Carpenter is thoroughly Republican, and honest in his principles, there is no room for doubt in the minds of all who know the man. We predict that his return to the Senate will make him more popular than ever, and that when he shall have finished his term that he will receive the applause of those who have had the honor to vote for his election.

We publish elsewhere the names of the Molly Maguires who have been hanged in Pennsylvania during the past two years. There have been nineteen executed, and two more are under sentence of death. The Pennsylvania courts are entitled to a good deal of credit for the course they have taken in rapidly disposing of these murderers and outlaws. The officers of the law were threatened with death if they persisted in prosecuting the Mollys. But they were not intimidated, and fearlessly did their duty. The Mollys have been a dangerous order in the coal regions in that State for some time. They were banded together by oaths, and death to the members was the penalty of treason to the order. The members were sworn to kill any person belonging to the coal companies when an opportunity favored it, did he not yield to their demands when duly notified to do so. In this way a large number of members of the coal companies lost their lives. The firm stand taken by the officers of the law in prosecuting the murderers has almost completely broken up the Molly band.

A Washington correspondent of the Inter-Ocean says that Blaine's popularity is attributed to his Senator's keeping himself informed on everything that is going on in the four quarters of the world, and having a memory that can retain all that information. It is in short, "a dignified familiarity with the interests of all men." He told the people of Minnesota at their fair last Fall ten times as much about themselves and their State as the majority of them ever pretended to know."

It can now be seen how the Carpenter got the Keyes to open the dead-lock with.

It don't always pay to take up a dark horse. Connecticut as an illustration.

VOLUME 22
 JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1879.
 NUMBER 270

END OF THE CONTEST.

Withdrawal of Senator Howe and Hon. E. W. Keyes.

Eloquent Speeches by Senator Burrows and Speaker Kelly.

In Which They Move to Nominate Matt. H. Carpenter by Acclamation.

The Motion Was Adopted with Great Enthusiasm.

And the Great Contest for the Senatorship Was Ended.

THE CAUCUS.

Carpenter Unanimously Nominated—Eloquent Speeches by Senator Burrows and Speaker Kelly.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22.—The Republican Caucus for the nomination of United States Senator, was called to order at nine a. m.

Senator Burrows, the eloquent gentleman from Dane, said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Caucus—It is a long road that has no turn; but I now plainly see the curve in the highway that leads to Washington; and I am grieved to be compelled to acknowledge that the man whom I have supported through this long and weary contest is not to be the winner of the great Senatorial prize. For six long days, by sunlight and by gaslight, we have been endeavoring to solve the problem as to who should represent this great commonwealth in the United States Senate. During this week's battle we have taken nearly one hundred ballots and I am proud of the fact that a constituent of mine in nearly every one has led the van. Hon. E. W. Keyes is not only a constituent of mine but I have known him intimately for nearly a quarter of a century, and for many years have been his nearest neighbor, and I trust it will not be deemed egotistical on my part if I here assert that there is not a man within the sound of my voice that is better posted as to his make up as a man in all respects than I am. I know him through and through, and any one that would even insinuate that he would be a dishonest, or a dishonorable act, is a base calumniator. I know him to be a high minded, noble hearted man, with not a mean trait in his character. As you all well know for twenty years, Mr. Keyes has worked incessantly for the Republican party, and now, although this caucus fails to appreciate his services and bestow their deserved rewards, they cannot take from him the heartfelt satisfaction of knowing that he has rendered untold benefit to our cause. Mr. Chairman, I lack for language with which to express the emotions of my heart. It pains me more than words can tell to now, by the request of Mr. Keyes, to withdraw his name; and in doing so I am desired by him to thank "the great and heroic grand," who have stood by their chiefest through thick and thin, and also to say to the members of this caucus, that notwithstanding any name he no: seen fit to make him your nominee that he shall continue in the future as in the past to be an active energetic worker in Republican ranks, and now Mr. Chairman I move that Hon. Matt. H. Carpenter be declared the unanimous nominee of this caucus.

Mr. Kelly said:
 Mr. Chairman—Before the motion of Senator Burrows is put, I would like to make a remark. I desire to say that I congratulate this caucus and the people of our State upon the fact that it is possible for so many men to meet together in session day after day advocating conflicting interests and contending for so great a stake and yet to have such perfect harmony of feeling and such friendship continue to exist throughout the conflict, it is, Mr. Chairman, not only a striking illustration, a great proof of the capacity of the American people to support and maintain their constitution, and to maintain free government, but it is also a compliment to the people of the State of Wisconsin, who have honored throughout their representatives.

Now Sir, I further congratulate this caucus that while this harmony has existed up to the present time is going to continue and that we are going to adjourn with the best of feeling toward each other and with the consciousness that we have done our duty in the premises. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, in behalf of Mr. Howe and in behalf of his immediate friends who have conducted the caucus, and in behalf of his friends in the Legislature who have stood by him, I desire to thank you for the courtesy and the fairness which has been shown to our cause through these many caucuses, I desire to thank these gentlemen on behalf of Senator Howe who have stood by him so nobly and so disinterestedly advocated his cause. Having said this, Mr. Chairman, with the consent, approval and desire of Senator Howe's immediate friends, by the desire of Senator Howe, himself, and the request of Senator Howe's friends in this caucus, I beg to withdraw the name of the Senator as a candidate for United States Senator. I take great pleasure on behalf of Senator Howe in seconding the motion of Senator Burrows. [Great enthusiasm manifested.]

On motion of Mr. Hutchinson, the caucus adjourned.

The following is a continuation of the caucuses from Tuesday afternoon:
 The eighty-ninth formal ballot resulted: Howe, 35; Keyes, 27; Carpenter, 29; Washburn, 1; Kelly, 1.
 Once again Carpenter was ahead, and the dark horses had dropped back.
 The ninetieth formal ballot stood: Howe, 25; Keyes, 23; Carpenter, 35; Washburn, 4; Kelly, 1.
 This was the first big flood for Carpenter, and caused intense but quiet excitement.

Mr. Carpenter was then unanimously nominated.

On motion of Mr. Hutchinson, the caucus adjourned.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

Joint Convention of the Wisconsin Legislature.

A Tremendous Crowd Fill the Galleries and Floor of the House.

Matt. H. Carpenter is Declared Elected United States Senator.

And That Distinguished Gentleman Thanks the Legislature in a Short Speech.

Speeches by E. W. Keyes and Judge Ryan.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Ballot in the Two Houses Last Night—The Winning Ballot in Joint Session To-Day.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, January 22.—Both Houses of the Legislature met in joint convention at twelve o'clock noon, Lieutenant Governor Bingham presiding. There was a very large attendance of people from all sections of the State, the galleries, floor of the House and the lobby being packed. After the usual preliminaries the official ballot for a United States Senator was taken with the following result: Carpenter, 34; Ryan, 28; Bouck, 13.

Matt. H. Carpenter was declared elected, and he being waited upon by a committee appeared before the Convention and made short speech thanking the Convention for the honor conferred; promising close and hard work in the Republican party; congratulating the country on the resumption of specie payments, and promising to resign his trust whenever the Legislature declared him to have violated it.

E. W. Keyes, on being called on, made a few remarks, cordially endorsing the work and good conscience. This bill if it passes and becomes a law repeals sections 1688, 1689, 1691 and 1692 of the Revised Statutes of 1878.

The Governor, in his recent message, recommended the enactment of a law clearly defining the crime of vagabondage and providing for its summary and severe punishment.

Mr. Washburn, of Waukesha, county, has introduced a bill in the Assembly, having this end in view.

The vote for General Logan in the Illinois Legislature was more flattering than was anticipated by his most sanguine friends. It was supposed he would get only four majority, but he received 106 to 97, as against all other candidates. It is creditable to the Republicans of Illinois to say that every member of the party in the Legislature voted for Logan. He is worthy of the compliment.

WITHOUT A GOVERNOR.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 21.—A rare incident in the history of the State occurred today. Owing to the inauguration being delayed until 1:30 p. m. the State was without a Governor for an hour and twenty minutes, Hartranft's term having expired at noon.

WISCONSIN DAIRYMEN.

KENOSHA, Wis., Jan. 21.—The annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Dairymen's Association will convene in this city tomorrow afternoon. The session will last two days, and will close with a banquet on Thursday evening at the Grant House. Already some delegates have arrived. It is expected that there will be fully 350 delegates present.

POSTMISTRESSES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Postmaster General Key to-day signed a very large number of commissions of ladies to be postmistresses. He says the number of ladies appointed to small offices, compensation of which ranges from $100 to $500, has nearly doubled in the past four years. He speaks of them very highly, and thinks they are well adapted to postoffices of the minor class, as they are, always in, and attend strictly to business, no matter how insignificant.

WISCONSIN.

WATERTOWN, Jan. 21.—At the special election for State Senator of the Twenty-third District held to-day, a two-thirds vote was polled. This city complete gives J. B. Bennett, Republican, 432 majority over Walter S. Greene, Democrat; town of Watertown, Bennett 8 majority; Ixonia, 107 majority; Fort Atkinson, 121 majority for Bennett; Waterloo, Bennett 75 majority; Palmyra, Bennett 7 majority; Koskisko, 92 majority for Bennett. Returns indicate the election of Bennett by a fair majority. The mill-dam question entered largely into the canvass, Greene, the Democratic candidate, representing the mill-dam interests throughout the county.

THE PENSION BILL.

The Measure Discussed in Cabinet Council.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Cabinet meeting to-day was quite lengthy and important. The pension bill was freely discussed, and statements were presented from the Treasury and the Interior Departments as to the probable cost should the bill become a law. The Commissioner of Pensions, through Secretary Schurz, made an estimate, based on a hasty examination of the books, and striking an average that $50,000,000 would be required. Secretary Schurz says it will be at least that, if not more. Secretary Sherman estimates that $100,000,000 would be required. The Cabinet was a unit in regretting that the bill was passed just now, in the peculiar condition of the finances, with the assumption to be made permanent, and the revenues continually decreasing. The President does not feel at liberty, however, to veto the bill, as there are no constitutional objections to it, and he believes that such a course would be futile, as Congress would undoubtedly pass it over his veto. The President and every member of the Cabinet, however, believe that it will be impossible to provide for these increased pensions, except by a large increase of taxation or an addition of many millions to the bonded debt. It was suggested that had Congress to provide the means in the same act to meet its requirements they would have been less anxious to pass the measure. To meet the heavy drain either the income tax will have to be resorted to, or a tax on tea and coffee, both of which, like an increase of the bonded debt, would be extremely unpopular.

BRIEFLETS.

—Warming up.
—Not so many tramps.
—The diary epidemic is about over.
—Mrs. Mack may be a little pail but she has not any bail.
—The days are a half hour longer than the beginning of the year.
—There was sliding on the hill until half-past twelve o'clock last night.
—The Temple of Honor folk join their Beloit brethren in an anniversary to-night.
—The backbone of winter ought to be broken by this time. It has had cold snaps enough.

—The Georgia Minstrels will appear at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday evenings.

—There was a pleasant gathering last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Stevens.

—The Directors of the Cotton & Factory meet next Monday night to organize and elect officers.

—Aldermen Vankirk's wife, who has been quite sick, is improving, much to the joy of her many friends.

—Several steeds were speeded on the ice yesterday afternoon, making rare sport without endangering life and limb.

—There was a little row at Churchill's saloon last night, and as a result one warrant for assault has been sworn out.

—The next literary of the Court Street Society will be Wednesday evening January 29. "John Howard" will be the topic of thought and talk.

—The news of the nomination of Matt. H. Carpenter was received at the Gazette office at 10:55, and at 11:10 five hundred extras were on the streets.

—The manifold cases arising from the disputed possession of the Hanover grist mill were called up before Justice Wickham and adjourned until the 15th of February.

—The Court Street Methodists met last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Conant, and indulged in social doings, and a lunch of coffee and sandwiches. Mr. Clarence Clark sang a bass solo, and Miss Lizzie Blinn also favored the company with songs. The occasion was informal but joyous.

—Richardson Bros., of Davenport shipped yesterday, by the Western Union railroad, to Mr. O. F. Dickey, Oxfordville, Rock county, the choice yearling heifer "Flatbush Queen," and the bull calf "Oxford Prince," both of thorough breeding and most popular ancestry.—Rock Island Union.

—The Veterans have made great preparations for their military ball to-morrow night. The hall will be decorated in a military and the Vets will appear in their new uniforms. Several paintings will be hung on the walls from the easels of J. B. La Grange and A. Buntiff. Every necessary for a merry dance, an abundant supper, and a general good time will be provided.

—Peck in his Sun sandwiches a good deal of sense with his nonsense. Here's a sample: "The bill to give $2,000 to the State Agricultural Society should be strangled before it has a chance to breathe. As we have said a hundred times before, if the society can't pay trotting expenses it should die. Will somebody put on an amendment giving six thousand dollars to Barr Robinson's circus? The circus has no wicked horse race."

—Rev. T. W. MacLean last night lectured before a goodly sized audience in All Souls church, it being his first address, outside of his pulpit, which he has delivered before a Janesville audience. His subject was "Aberglaube," which word he used in the sense of "the poetry of life" and also as covering the reality of life as shown in development. His lecture was carefully prepared, well delivered, and was of such interest and merit that all who heard it will more gladly than ever listen to the speaker again.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 26 degrees above zero and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 40 degrees above. Cloudy. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 28 and 32 degrees above.

"F. L. & T."

Last evening about twenty-five members from Milton Lodge, visited Janesville city lodge No. 99, I. O. O. F., and after the session closed, all were invited to Gray's restaurant, where they partook of oysters and "goodies." Several members of No. 14, were also guests of No. 99. We are glad to know that this order is prospering so well. Old fellows are open hearted and do things on a grand scale.

ROUND FOR BELOIT.

The Beloit Temple of Honor this evening celebrates its anniversary, and a number of Janesville Templars will participate. Among those who join in the good time are: Piny Norcross, Chas A. Sanborn, John H. Taylor, E. L. Dimock, Geo H. Osgood, S. W. Hubbard, J. C. Nyquist, C. E. Bowles, R. J. Carras, A. D. Wickham, J. W. Tipney, Charles Blow, George Skinner, Fred Tall, John Boyd, Barr Robinson, M. A. Norris, S. Vanburen, J. W. Harrington, C. E. Curtis, J. W. Bolton, L. Caniff, P. Moutatt, T. D. Pooler.

OLD FOLKS' DANCE.

The Temple of Honor opened their series of socials last evening by an old folks' dance. There were a goodly number in attendance, including a sprinkling of young people, who gladly joined the older ones in the ancient steps of the sweet by-gones. The numbers were such as were programmed in years gone by, but the feet were none the less nimble and the hearts none the less light than when there were no "silver threads among the gold." Robin's orchestra, with five pieces, furnished the music, and the hall presented a festive appearance. Dancing was commenced quite early in the evening, and the scattering commenced about half-past twelve. This is but the first of a series of socials, which the Temple will give, and if they are all to be as enjoyable as that of last evening, they will prove a grand success.

A SMASHED ELBOW.

Last evening Jerry Murphy, who lives on Franklin street, was coming down the stairs from Concordia hall, where a party was in progress, when he slipped and fell causing a very serious fracture of the left elbow. The bones were broken and forced through the flesh and skin, and even through the clothing, making as ugly a break as it was possible. He was at once taken to his home, and the injury received surgical treatment. It is very doubtful whether the arm will be saved, but even if it is it will be badly crippled.

A MIDNIGHT ARREST.

Last night about 11 o'clock Justice Prichard was called out of the old folk's dance to issue a warrant for the arrest of Levi Mills, who was with J. Frank Fox, when the latter drove Yeager's liverly team to Delavan and back, causing thereby, it is claimed, the death of one of the horses. The charge entered against Mills was that of over-driving, the same as that entered against Fox. Mills was found shortly after the warrant was issued, and immediately gave bail, so that he was saved a night in jail. The cases of both will come up to-morrow morning.

A CENTENARIAN.

Death of Robert Lumpkins at the ripe age of 102 years.

Special Correspondence of the Gazette.

Bloomington, Grant county, Jan. 18.—Picking up some of the passing events, prompts me to send a few to your interesting paper, among which is the death of Robert Lumpkins, who died at the age of 102 years and ten months. His life has been linked together the distant past and the present; older than the Declaration of Independence or the present Constitution of the United States. He served in the war of 1812, and was a pensioner of that war when he died. He was well acquainted with Washington, and was always glad to tell how on his way to school he gave him good advice. He saw Jackson on his way to the White House for his first term. The old gentleman would brighten up and apparently seem to be back again in Old Virginia when telling about Old Hickory as he saw him in his fine coat drawn by four splendid gray horses, for in those days the steam horse did not snort through the Old Dominion as it does now, said Father Lumpkins the roadside tinied with people to see the Old General on his way to take the reins of government.

He was able to walk about his room during the day until near his death. For a long time he expected every night would be his last, and often he said that he thought death had forgotten him. I saw him for the last time in March, when he wished me to stay with him all day and cheer his weary way with sacred song.

We pass from the centenarian to other events. Lancaster people are exultant over the accomplishment of the long desired improvement, the railroad connecting the pleasant town with the M. S. T. P. Railroad.

PERSONAL.

It is with regret that we have to announce that Mr. Edgar Weaver, so long an efficient book-keeper at Mr. S. L. Sheldon's, left our city, last night, to make his future home in Janesville, where he will pursue the medical profession, after thoroughly preparing himself, in the best colleges. Before leaving, last night, a large number of Mr. Weaver's friends gathered at the hotel to bid him "God speed." The new musical organization, of which he has been one of the most active members, gathered there and enlivened the occasion with a number of the sweetest pieces of music. We can truly say that the capital city has lost an exemplary young man, and Janesville has been fortunate in gaining him. "God speed," long life and success attend you, is our wish.—Madison Democrat.

OXFORDVILLE.

A very serious lamp explosion at the house of Halgren Oleson about two miles west of Oxfordville early Monday morning, the 20th inst., a bracket kerosene lamp hanging in its place exploded. Mr. Oleson's youngest boy, about three years of age, in his night clothes, having just got out of bed, stood almost immediately under the lamp as it burst. The lamp was about half full of oil which, taking fire and falling upon the child, enveloped it in flames in an instant. The father standing near seized a coat and quickly smothered the flames, but not until the child was burned the skin upon the entire breast, the left hand, a part of the left hand and the face being crisped and blistered. Dr. Lacy was called, and hopes are entertained that the child will recover, although its condition at present is critical.

—The play, "Fruits of the Wine Cup," is to be served up at the M. E. church in Oxford, next Friday evening, by the Amateurs of Oxfordville, under the directions of the Sons of Temperance.

MILTON JUNCTION.

—Mr. William T. Morgan met Mr. J. T. Stetson, of Marshall, Michigan, in Milwaukee last week, where they purchased quite a large amount of the furniture and equipments with which to stock the Morgan House in the spring. Their furnishing will all be first class and ample. Mr. Stetson returned to Marshall as soon as their purchases were completed.

—Mr. George Thorpe is having stone drawn with which to lay the foundation of a new meat shop on the vacant lot adjoining Smalley's restaurant on the north. He proposes to build quite a large shop. The tendency of two shops will be to reduce the price of beef to the consumer.

—Rev. Mr. Eldridge is holding a series of revival meetings at the M. E. church each evening. There is quite a fair attendance and a good degree of interest.

—Sleighting was patched up nicely by the light fall of snow we got last week.

—The dead-lock on the Senatorial question seems like a useless waste of time to the majority of Republicans here, who as between the three candidates can see but one choice, and that is Carpenter first, last and all the time.

—Mr. Mackey has had another slight setback and is not so well again.

—More than a month without thawing any in the sun is something of a novelty as compared with last winter.

—Elder Loomis occupied the pulpit at the Seventh Day Baptist church last Saturday morning, and we hear his sermon quite highly spoken of.

—Elder Warden returned from Minnesota this week and will occupy his accustomed place next Sabbath.

—Mr. J. S. Badger, proprietor of the Milton Register, is at present assisting Messrs. Veeder & Leonard in the Recorder office in Janesville. Charley is running the office assisted by Mr. B. J. Curtis, of Milton.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, 2100 House, New York City.

Do Stop That Cough!

Why in the world don't you go to the drug store and get a bottle of Hale's Cough Cordial and cure that cough, which is wearing you slowly, but so surely, out? We don't ask you to take any chances on this remedy. If you have not tried it we urge you to get a bottle, and if after using one-half of it you find that it is doing you no good, you can return it and get your money back. E. Waterhouse, of Massachusetts, writes: "Three doses cured our little girl of one of the most aggravated coughs. W. would not be without it. Price 50 cts and $1.00 per bottle. decidedly."

Consumption Lurks in Every Cough.

Every home should be supplied with "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry." It imbues the blood with its life-giving principle, and repairs the wasting tissues and imparts health to the various organs. Thousands have been restored to perfect health after having been given up to the physicians and friends. We have seen the fading and consumptive stricken youth renew his life under its benign action. We have seen the middle-aged, the old and enfeebled restored to comfortable health. Therefore if you have a cold, distressing cough, any throat, breast or lung trouble, use promptly "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry." Equally valuable in Asthmatic and Bronchial affections. Trial bottle 25 cents. Large size $1.00, or six bottles $5. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Sold by all leading druggists. j33dmsdwy-1

A Medicine Chest for 25 Cents.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a good cathartic. SWAYNE'S TAR AND SASSAPARILLA PILLS are prepared expressly to meet this necessity; being composed of purely vegetable ingredients, of which Podophyllin or Mandrake, Pine Tree Tar, Sassafras, Yellow Dock and other concentrated juices enter largely into their composition; the whole strength of which is extracted on an entirely new principle. They are mild in their operation, produce no griping, and are truly a valuable purgative, aperient, anti-bilious and cathartic medicine. They stimulate the liver to healthy action, cleanse the stomach and bowels of all impurities. Curing sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia or indigestion, bilious, intermittent, remittent and congestive fevers, languor, drowsiness, aching pains in the back, head, slight chills, with flushes of heat, female irregularities, and for a bilious and costive habit, no medicine is so prompt and effectual as Dr. SWAYNE'S TAR AND SASSAPARILLA PILLS. If your druggist or storekeeper has not got them, or will not procure them for you, we will forward them by mail on receipt of price, (on currency or postage stamps), 25 cents a box, or five boxes for $1.
